Indiana University is a nonprofit educational organization under the United States Internal Revenue Code 501(c)(3).

The BDSC is a not-for-profit scientific research resource that collects, maintains, and distributes genetic stocks of the insect Drosophila melanogaster to qualified research and teaching institutions. Grant support from the National Institutes of Health (U.S.) subsidizes your fees.

Please note that the Bloomington Drosophila Stock Center (BDSC) and the Drosophila Genomics Resource Center (DGRC) are not the same organization. We are both in the Department of Biology at Indiana University and therefore have similar addresses and the same TIN, but we are separate entities. Please do not direct payments for the BDSC to the DGRC or combine BDSC and DGRC payments.
